The Event

- The Biennial Ovarian Cancer Research Symposium began in 1996 and is the longest running and one of the largest ovarian cancer focused research meetings in the United States. The meeting is jointly presented by the Rivkin Center and the American Association for Cancer Research (AACR) from September 26th to 28th at the Seattle Hyatt Regency in downtown, with a pre-Symposium Reception for Rivkin Awardees on September 25th.

- An array of distinguished speakers representing all areas of ovarian cancer research and treatment brings together clinicians and researchers from the US and abroad to encourage collaborations and advance the field of ovarian cancer research.

- The Symposium addresses major needs in ovarian cancer research and treatment by educating health care providers and researchers on the latest innovations in the treatment, early detection, and prevention of ovarian cancer.

- The Ovarian Cancer Research Symposium is a Continuing Medical Education activity with AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™ available.

This year for the first time we will have Exhibitor Passports and offer prizes to participants who visit our Sponsors

The Audience

- The Symposium draws roughly 400 participants, including physicians, nurses, researchers, advocates for research, and ovarian cancer patients and survivors. In 2018, there was a 32% increase in attendance and we expect this trend to continue.

- The breadth of research draws participants from all over the world. In 2018, 20% of participants were international visitors coming from 14 different countries.

About Ovarian Cancer

- Each year, approximately 22,000 women in the United States are diagnosed with ovarian cancer.

- The overall 5-year survival rate for ovarian cancer is only 47% and is markedly lower when diagnosed at later stages.
